

The AACLA Donation Policy

by Rod Blocksome

The Arthur A. Collins Legacy Association (AACLA) was formed on January 3, 2014 as a non-profit 501(c)(3) corporation controlled by a board of directors.

The Arthur A. Collins Legacy Association (AACLA) was formed on January 3, 2014 and is committed to preserving and honoring the legacy and memory of Arthur A. Collins and the significant contributions he made in the world of communications, aerospace and defense technologies. The AACLA is organized for the purpose of promoting education in the areas of Science, Technology, Engineering and Mathematics (STEM).

We work to inspire and teach future generations by the preservation and display of artifacts, conducting educational events, and producing educational media related to Collins history.

The Corporation is organized exclusively for charitable, educational, or scientific purposes, within the meaning of Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code and controlled by a Board of Directors who serve without compensation. The work of the AACLA is financed by grants and funds donated by generous individuals and foundations interested in the AACLA accomplishments.
